Attorney-General McKittrick and one of his assistants, Harry G. Waltner Jr., will be in St. Louis tomorrow to hold a conference relative to St. Louis retail coal prices. They will proceed to Washington, where they are to appear Thursday and Friday before the review board of the Retail Code Authority, concerning St. Louis retail coal

The Missouri officials will confer in Washington with Burr T.

Ansell, one of counsel for NRA.

Attorney-General McKittrick said today that he still held to his announced intention to file anti-trust suits aganist anyone attempting to fix coal prices in the St. Louis area. A price schedule for St. Louis was fixed last May by the divisional code authority, but was disapproved by NRA, and a new schedule is now nding before the review board in Washington.

The Attorney-General today held hearing on the controversy which has arisen over the price of coal to be furnished to the Board of their employers. In its first precedent-setting case, the National Labor Board sustained the President and overruled Johnson and Richberg. On March 2, in the Denver Tramway case, the board held that the majority spokesmen spoke for all. The board, how-ever, refused to recognize the "closed shop," and eliminated from the proposed agreement a clause limiting its application to the members of the majority union. Pierre S. du Pont, a member of the board, dissented, upholding the claimed right of the minority group to deal separately with the employer. President Roosevelt reversed his February order and disregarded the Labor Board's decision in the Tramway case in his settlement of the threatened automobile strike on March 25. In that settlement the parties agreed that the collective bargaining was to be conducted by committee on which the various groups would have representation in proportion to the number of workers they represented. This meant that the majority rule was abandoned and that company un-ions and independent organizations could exist side by side in the same plants and send joint committees to bargain with the employer.

The Houde Decision. The principle of this settlement was severely criticised by the new National Labor Relations Board in the recent Houde Engineering Corporation decision, a precedent-setinterpretation of Section 7A is con-

In this instance, the board found that the company had discriminated in favor of a company union built around a loosely knit athletic club. Despite the alleged favoritism to the company union, an election gave the trade union an emphatic majority for collective bargaining. At the hearing before the board the company counsel suggested that a composite con tee, as in the automobile settlement, might result in a satisfactory compromise. This plan was opposed by the union and rejected by the board.

Commenting on the lawyer's pro-

Kaminski escaped from Hamden County jail in October with Paul Wargo of Wallingford, Conn. During that escape Merritt W. Hayden, a jail guard, was slugged on the head and fatally injured. Wargo was found a few hours after the break, near the jail, but Kaminski was at liberty several weeks. Ka-minski then was convicted of first degree murder for Hayden's death. The conviction carried a mandatory death sentence. Wargo was con-victed of second degree murder and now is at State prison in Boston.

During Kaminski's trial, the courthouse was thrown into a tur-moil by his brother, John, who threw a bomb at Sheriff David J. Manning during a court session. The Sheriff lunged at the youth, who shot him in the thigh. John, who said he was trying to effect his brother's escape, now is in State

DRIVER CAUGHT AFTER TWO ARE HIT, INJURED

Another Motorist and Policeman Overtake Auto-Accident in Safety Zone.

Joseph O'Neil, 50 years old, an employe of the Park Department, and Mrs. Louise Burr, 44, both of 4916A Natural Bridge avenue, were seriously injured when struck by an automobile while waiting for a street car in a safety zone at Union and Delmar boulevards last night. The automobile sped on and was chased by Clark Bland, 7338 Wellington avenue, University City, who stopped to pick up Patrolman Howard Barkley. They overhauled the other car at Kingshighway and Page boulevard and arrested the driver, who was booked as William Porter, 32, a chauffeur, 5220 Alaska avenue. Although a headlight of his machine was smashed, he denied striking anyone.

O'Neil suffered a fractured leg and internal injuries. Mrs. Burr suffered fractured ribs. They are in De Paul Hospital.

Two Young Women Hurt in Auto Collision.

Miss Ursula Moloney, 24, 6309 Pershing avenue, University City, daughter of Thomas O. Moloney, head of the Moloney Electric Co., and Miss Mary Corby, 22, same address, were cut and bruised in a collision at Delmar boulevard and Laurel street at 2:45 a. m. Sunday. They were riding with Jack Kaysing, 4002 Magnolia avenue, secretary of the Kaysing Iron Works, whose car collided with another driven by Irwin Lieberman, an organ builder, 6052 Marquette avenue. David Stephens, 25, 4530 McPheron avenue, a passenger, in Kaysing's automobile, suffered a skull injury.

Thomas B. Lannon, 52, 1415 Pine street, was knocked down at Twelfth boulevard and Washington avenue at 1 a. m. yesterday by an automobile, which sped on. He suffered a broken leg. Robert Oechs-ner, 2051 Alice avenue, a passing motorist, pursued the machine to Eighteenth and Olive streets and gave police the license number. Officers later arrested Paul Schutte, a music teacher, 4957 Rosalie avenue, to whom the license was issued. Schutte stated, police reported, that he felt a jolt, but said he did not see Lannon and was assured by other persons in the machine that he had not struck any-

Others injured in automobile accidents over the week-end were: Thomas Stevens, 70, 1615 Hogan street, fractured leg; Thomas Beuerskens, 1825 Coleman street, injured back: his wife. Lorene, severed artery in leg; Mrs. Juanita Garvey, 27, a widow, 2713A St. Louis avenue, fractured spine.

Y. M. C. A. is asking for bids on a two-story social and recreational building at 2232 South Grand boulevard. The estimated cost of the building, including investment in land, is $250,000.

Construction will begin as soon as contracts can be awarded, provided bids are within funds available for building purposes. The building, to be of colonial design and of brick and reinforced concrete structure, will have facilities to serve about 2000 members.

It is to be erected on the site of the residence of the late Peter J. Pauly, which the South Side Branch had occupied until it was torn down recently. The facilities will include clubrooms, classrooms, gymnasium, swimming pool, handball courts, locker rooms and showers. Adjoining property at 2246 South Grand is to be used for out-door recreational purposes.

fund has been diminished by $300,000 during the depression, due to a decline in the membership of this Masonic organization, the Arabic Order of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, from 600,000 to 450,000.

The hospitals provide free and skilled attention for crippled children whose parents are unable to pay for services, and whose disabilities can be sufficiently improved to enable them to be self-supporting in after life. Facilities are not available for patients suffering from ailments which will not respond to treatment in a reasonable length of time.

First Hospital in 1922.

Building the first hospital in Shreveport, La., in 1922, the organization established hospitals at Minneapolis, San Francisco, Portland, St. Louis, Montreal, Chicago, Philadelphia, Greenville, S. C.; Springfield, Mass., and Honolulu, and mobile units at Spokane, Salt Lake City, Winnipeg, Canada, and Lexington, Ky. It was thought that work in the mobile units would not warrant building, and that they could be moved to other localities where the need for children's orthopedic units was great. However, work has increased, and it has been impossible to abandon them. They are in rented quarters in the children's hospitals of the cities named.

Each division is under control of a local Board of Governors, consisting of nine members of the Shrine, who serve under supervision of a National Board of Trustees. The Boards of Governors manage the affairs of their respective institutions, pass on the recommendations of the chief surgeons and superintendents as to personnel, and bring all major problems to the attention of the trustees.

An interesting division of the hospitals, known as the out-patient department, is for children whose afflictions yield to weekly treatment.

Official sand Indiana, with a few from West Virginia, Colorado, Texas and New Mexico.

Treatment of all children admitted falls into a definite routine: Surgical, therapeutic, educational and social. Surgical treatment, followed by massage and muscle training, is, of course, of primary importance. The children have no fear of the operating table. Former Republicans Now In Race as Democrats or Progressives.

By the Associated Press.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 17. -Voters in tomorrow's Wisconsin primary face the task of hunting in new places for familiar names as a result of one of the most unusual olitical realignments in the State's

Searching through the ballot, they will find men who once held high office as Republicans now designated as Progressives or Democrats. Added to these complications are factional fights within the two old

The La Follette brothers left the Republican party last spring and with the Liberal wing as a nucleus rganized the Progressive party. The Progressives contend the two old parties are reactionary and invite Liberals in each to rally to their ise. U. S. Senator Rober M. La-Follette, who seeks re-election and s unopposed for nomination, recent-y said party lines disappeared in the consideration of questions af-fecting the people's welfare.

Philip F. La Follette aspires to he governorship, which he held as Republican in 1930-32. Henry O. Meisner of Waukesha contests his omination, but has said "Phil robably will win."

Francis E. McGovern, Republican Sovernor in 1911-15, is in a five-corered race for the Democratic senaorial nomination. His opponents are Charles E. Hammersley and John M. Callahan of Milwaukee, Mrs. Gertrude Bowler, national committeewoman of Sheboygan, and State Senator William D. Caroll of Prairie Du Chien. All are pledged to the New Deal.

John B. Chapple, Ashland editor, is the only Republican senatorial Gov A G Schmedeman a Democrat and committed to wholehearted support of President Roosevelt, is opposed by William B. Rubin and Richard F. Lehmann, both of Milwaukee. Rubin contends the Governor is a reactionary.

The Republican convention indorsed Howard T Greene, Genesee dairyman. Cries of "steam roller" were raised and Fred Zimmerman, Governor in 1927-29, and James N. Tittemore entered the lists. James P. Sheehan, a Milwaukee bor leader, is the Socialist candidate for the Senate. George A. Nelson, "dirt farmer" from Milltown, is Socialist candidate for the governorship. The State's four Democratic Congressmen, Cannon, Henney, O'Malley and Reilly, are opposed for re-nomination, as is the Republican, Peavey. Blanchard, a Republican, has no contest. Withrow and Boileau, serving as Republicans, followed the La Follettes to the new Frear, Republican,

ACTOR, KILLS SELF AT PARENTS' GRAVE

Former Master of Ceremonies at St. Louis Theater Ends Life at Stratford (Conn.) Cemetery.

FAREWELL NOTES TO HIS BROTHER

Had Been Despondent Over Deaths of Mother and Father-Pistol Not Found at First.

Arrives Chicago 6:55 A. M.

STRATFORD, Cenn., Sept. 17 .-Wesley Eddy, 31 years old, former master of ceremonies at the St. Louis (Mo.) Theater and more recently at the Roxy Theater in New York, shot and killed himself yesterday on the grave of his parents in St. Michael's Cemetery here. Eddy's real name was Edward

Dr. H. M. de Luca, acting medical examiner, said Eddy died of a self-inflicted bullet wound a revolver, the slug piercing his brain. In a farewell note to his brother

Joseph, of Bridgeport, which he sent special delivery, Eddy said: "Please see that I am buried right away next to our dear moth taker of the cemetery for delivery to his brother read: "Joe: Here's the balance-and the receipt for the insurance-it's okay-take care of yourself. Watch out for every-thing. I love you. Eddie." Despondent Over Parents' Death.

Eddy had been despondent since the death of his mother in 1926, police were told, and his sorrow in creased, they said, when his father died in December, 1932. Police said he called from New York City by telephone nearly every week to have fresh flowers put on his parents' graves, and on every visit he would go first of all to the cemetery, where he sat for hours hey said, at the graves. He last met his brother Saturday afternoon and his eyes were filled with tears, Joseph said, but Eddy eadfastly declined to tell what he lanned to do.

the body at first made police believe liam B. Nichols, in making a deovered rust marks and the outline a small pistol on the right hand the dead man.

Three hours after the body had een removed from the cemetery, neone aiding in the search for he missing weapon discovered it 120 feet east of where police insist d the shooting took place.

Wet dirt had been crammed into the barrel and a hole in the ground ndicated, police said, that someone attempted to force the weapon out of sight after taking it from the dead man's hand. They are investigating the removal of the weapon Eddy leaves his widow, Mrs. Mil ired de Marco Gargiulo of Brook yn, N. Y.; his brother, Joseph, of Bridgeport, and a son, Frank, bet-ter known as Junior Eddy, who is attending a military school in Bal-

Eddy was master of ceremonie at Roxy Theater, New York, from February to August. Previous to his engagement at the Roxy, Eddy played for a year and a half a he Fox Brooklyn Theater. He had served as master of ceremo Atlantic City, Baltimore, Washing Theater said Eddy left its employ in August due to a change in polic which eliminated a master of cere onies from stage shows.

HODGE DEFEATS WIESE IN FINAL

By Davison Obear.

Karl Hodge of the Triple A Club is the new St. Louis District singles tennis champion as the result of his victory over Ray Wiese, former Washington University and Missouri Valley Conference titleholder, in the final round played at the St. Louis Country Club yesterday afternoon. The score was 6-3, 6-0, 6-3. Hodge succeeds Gus Boehmer. The doubles final will be played at the St. Louis Country Club this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, when Hodge and Wray Brown will meet Karl Kammann and Charles Barnes. The singles final required two hours and five minutes. Hodge scored 116 points as compared to 97 for Wiese. With the exception of the third set, Hodge held the advantage over his opponent.

F the racing addicts of St. Louis were to awaken tomorrow morning and find not a line of racing information in any newspaper, not a word of racing mentioned via the air, and not a handbook operating, they might appreciate the feelings of the inhabitants of New Orleans, where racing has been a large part of the city's sport life for many years.

What is suggested for St. Louis has actually happened in New Or-leans, where Mr. Huey Long has first punch. That occurred when the Louisiana Kingfish dictated as part of his recent legislative pro-gram, a bill which prohibits the dissemination of racing information in any form, by publication or otherwise, out-fines of racetracks. Immediately this law became effective, New Orleans newspapers quit publishing racing news and gossip; handbooks closed; racetrack gambling ceased except for trifling bootlegging of bets, and one of the great money-changing activities of the city was wiped out over night. This stymie of racing informs tion was so thorough that one radio station in New Orleans which planned to broadcast the details of the running of the classic Belmont Futurity, Saturday, was informed that it would be prosecuted if it went through with its broadcast. Tipsters were silenced and the Daily Racing Form was forced to move its offices from New Orleans to Houston, Tex. The General News Bureau, supplying bookies with information, closed its offices. Imagine the roar of indignation from all concerned.

Caught in no man's land, be tween the warring factions, are the racetracks, officials of which see their investments wiped out, if they are not able to operate this winter.

anywhere, unless Huey Long relents. Without advertising they figure operating a racetrack will take a chance with a law that means a fine of $1000 to $3000 or two years' imprisonment.

Is the Law Unconstitutional?

THE racetrack owners hope to I prove that the law is uncon stitutional, and to do this they will have to go to court. If they do, this writer is informed, they will have to do it without the aid of the New Orleans newspapers. The Kingfish already has imposed a tax of 2 per cent on all newspaper advertising, and the publishers don't care to take on another fight with him.

There is an undercurrent of belief that when Huey wipes out the old political element he will relent and loosen up on a lot of things. That thought is built on the fact that one of Long's strongest po-litical supporters was one of the men who helped purchase Jefferson Park, some years ago, and who is still a great friend of General Manager Robert Eddy Jr. of the Eddy, Cattarinich, Dandu-rand combination which owns Fairmount and several other race tracks. Some see in this a guarantee of help for Jefferson Park. On the other hand, if Jefferson Park operates, Fair Grounds must be allowed to operate, too, and that would hardly suit the Kingfish. Fair Grounds owner, E. R. Bradley, testified against the Kingfish in a Senate investigation some months ago. The Kingfish doesn't seem to forget his enemies very readily, if we have read between the lines correctly.

Racing Jeopardized.

Some time ago Bradley announced, responding to an appeal "from 100 citizens of New Orleans," that he would return and reopen the track which last year he thought he had sold to Joseph A. Murphy of this city and his associates-a sale that was abandoned after part payment, when purchasers encountered a losing season. Jefferson Park already has announced a Thanksgiving day opening. But whether they will he able to do this is something more than problematical.

The situation adds just one more blow to the once-great winter racing season at the Crescent City. With Miami in the East, San Francisco and Los Angeles in the West, and the Texas tracks next door all operating important winter racing campaigns, the future of the bangtails in Louisiana has been seriously jeopardized. It remained for Huey the Kingfish to land the knockout. And it appears that the patient is not likely to start kicking again for

The only team which does not appear to have a chance to finish in the first division is Indiana. I have great admiration for the courage and spirit of the scrappin' Hoosiers and for the ability of their new coach. Bo McMillin, but on paper they do not look able to make the higher grade.

I know and esteem Francis Schmid the new Ohio State coach but so far as I am concerned it would have suited me all right to leave him down in Texas. He knows his way around the gridiron and will do well at Colombus. I think Ohio State is potentially strong and that the Buckeyes will be dangerous from the start.

JOCKEY STANDING

THE five leading riders at Fairmount after the first week's racing are as follows: Jockey. Mounts. 1. 2. 3. pl. Pct. F. A. Smith.....23 5 4 4 10 .21 D. Edwards 20 4 2 4 11 .20 M. Mathews 20 4 1 3 13 .20 Machado21 4 6 1 11 .19 P. Martinez22 4 2 3 14 .18

By Dent McSkimming.

True to prediction, little Freddie Smith is leading the riders at Fairmount after one week's activity. Smith was something of a riding sensation at Bainbridge and Thistle Down, just prior to moving to Fairmount, and it was generally ex-pected that he would forge to the top of the jockey standing here. He

Smith has ridden 23 mounts in the five racing days, winning with five of them, for a winning average of .21, which is as high as that of any rider in the country. His rid-ing has been uniformly good, for he has placed his horse in the money 13 times out of his 23 mounts, scoring four seconds and four thirds. In the race for jockey honors, for which a prize has been offered by a local jeweler, these seconds and thirds will have a value, but in computing a riders' percentage, only winners count. After a week's activity, Dale Edwards and Milton Mathews are Smith's closest rivals, each with a percentage of .20. Edwards has been slightly more consistent since he has placed second twice and third four times, whereas Mathews has but one second and three thirds. A Cuban and a Mexican, L. Machado and Pedro Martinez, follow the three leaders, each with four victories. Machado has been out of the money only 11 times out of 21 mounts and has a winning average of .19, whereas Martinez has been among the also rans 14 times out of 22 starts.

Post time in the first race at Fairmount for the remainder of the meeting, including Saturdays, will be 2:30 p m., it was announced by General Manager R. S. Eddy. It has been noted that for the first paratively few persons present to most half the crowd reaching the

A considerable increase in attendance is expected for the remainder of the meeting, since there are now in circulation thousands of passes upon which the holder is required to pay but 20 cents at the gate. This charge takes care of the Illinois State tax, which is a fixed 20 cents per admission.

TWO BLADES WHERE ONLY ONE GREW BEFORE.

A Shelter Belt of Trees

While planting trees over a 100-mile-wide strip of Western plains will not stop drouths, it will tend to increase humidity and conserve water now wasted, American Forestry Association's executive secretary contends; sees merit in project as provider of immediate employment in a stricken region as well as a great conservation device.

Ovid Butler in American Forests.

WHAT is meant by a shelter belt forest? It is a planting of trees or lowgrowing shrubs in strips sufficiently wide to protect land on the leeward side against prevailing winds. 2. Who first suggested the project? The undertaking originated with President Roosevelt. A year ago, he discussed with the Forest Service a somewhat similar plan. With the 1934 drouth in the prairie region calling for large-scale relief, the President again brought forth his plan, with the result that the Forest Service formulated the de-

3. What is the total area embraced in the proposed shelter belt and the percentage of and to be planted to trees? A strip of country 100 miles east and west and 1000 miles ong north and south, extending from the Canadian border to the Panhandle of Texas, to be selected as the shelter belt zone. Strips seven rods wide running north and south and one mile apart will be planted to trees. The total area in the belt will be 100,000 square miles, or 64,000,000 acres. The planted strips within the belt will approximate 1,500,000 acres, or an average of 14 acres to the section.

4. What percentage of the whole prairie region will be embraced in the shelter belt? Approximately one-fourth of the plains country is involved in the project.

5. Since the land to be planted is now in private ownership and much of it is being cultivated, how will the Federal Government obtain authority to convert it into forests? Through co-operative agreements with the owners of the land and, when necessary, by direct purchases or long-time leases.

6. How much time and money will be required to complete the project and where is the money coming from? It is estimated that completion of the undertaking will call for an ultimate expenditure of $75,000,000 and that 10 years will be required to complete it. By an executive order, President Roosevelt has allocated $15,000,000 to the project from the $525,000,000 drouth relief appropriation approved by Congress June 19 last, of which $10,000,000 has been released to the Secretary of Agriculture to meet the cost of the first year's work. Subsequent funds will have to come either from other emergency relief appropriations or from direct appropriations by Congress.

7. Will the shelter belt forests eventually stop drouths in the region concerned? Foresters do not claim that the shelter belt forests will stop drouths, but they do hold that they will mitigate the effects of drouths. They will tend to increase the humidity of the air through evaporation of water through the leaves. In winter, they will retard the evaporation of snow and will prevent its drifting into low depressions, where it melts in the spring and now runs off as flood and waste water

8. Will the forested strips proposed change the climate of the region? It is doubtful if any material climatic changes will be brought about throughout the region.

9. What specific purposes will the project serve? First, as a public works undertaking of long-time value to provide immediate em ployment to a section of the country dependent upon agriculture which has been critically stricken by drouth; second, to provide some permanent and dependable protection to homes and farms against ele-ments that make life hard and farming highly hazardous and uncertain. Lands proken by the plow have fallen easy prey to wind erosion and millions of tons of rich topsoil have been stripped from the farms. Wind and drouth with accumulating severity have robbed the lands of their moisture.

Foresters generally do not hold that the forest influence will extend much beyond the area itself, except in retarding dust storms. 11. When will planting work actually begin? Probably no planting of trees will begin until next spring. A vast amount of preliminary work is called for.

10. Will the influence of the trees extend beyond the immediate belt to be planted?

12. How many trees will be required to plant the 100 strips proposed? Close spacing would call for about three and one-half

13. Is there sufficient planting stock available in the country to carry out a project of this magnitude? Not at the present time. The Forest Service is planning to draw upon every available source, and in addition is taking steps to establish Federal nurseries.

14. What size and species of trees will be used? Native trees or those which have shown an ability to grow in the plains region will be depended upon primarily. Trees from other arid regions, however, will also be brought into play. 15. How fast will the trees grow? This depends on species and seasons. The fastergrowing trees like poplar may attain heights of 25 to 30 feet in 20 years. 16. Is it necessary to have forest strips seven rods wide in order to provide adequate wind shelter to adjacent crop lands? Effective shelter belt plantings can be much less in width, particularly if low-growing trees or shrubs are used in mixture. It is understood that seven-rod strips a mile apart have been specified in order to assure that the trees will maintain themselves against heavy and drying winds. 17. Will the 100 strips running north and south be continuous or will they be broken and with strips running east and west? Theoretically, the plan calls for continuous strips north and south. Actually, there will undoubtedly be breaks. East and west strips are not now contemplated. There may be shelter belt plantings around exposed school houses and communities.

18. Why are the planted strips to run north and south? On the theory that winds in the prairie country are most generally from the west. This theory, however, does not hold true throughout the shelter belt zone. In many sections, the project will undoubtedly have to be modified. 19. If winds for the most part are from the west, why are the shelter belt strips on the eastern side of the prairie region? Be cause that is the zone of sufficient rainfall to give promise of successful tree planting. 20. Has not tree planting in the plains region been proved impracticable by the experience of settlers under the Timber Culture Act, which became law in 1873 and was not repealed until the early '90s? Not necessarily. Early settlers did much tree planting with disastrous results, but they were largely without knowledge and experience in

OF SINKING SLOOP, SAVES LIFE

Two Companions Lashed to Rigging Below Him Perish in Storm On Lake Michigan.

RACINE, Wis., Sept. 17. - From | 5 a precarious place far up on the mast, a Racine yatchsman watched helplessly yesterday as his two companions drowned when the 26foot sloop Spray sank in a storm 12 miles out in Lake Michigan. Fourteen hours later, Herman Jensen, 43 years old, was rescued. He had lashed himself to the mast, but the boat had settled so far that his feet touched the water.

The bodies of Thomas Graham 32, and Irving Uhrler, 28, were found beneath the water. They had tied themselves to the rigging, too low to escape death as the boat slowly filled and went down.

The three-men left Racine at 9:30 p. m. Saturday, intending to go to Milwaukee for a regatta, three hours later they were fighting a gale 18 miles Northeast of Racine. Suddenly the 30-year-old sloop nosed down. Jensen said his companions 2707 N. GRAND. FRANKLIN 0200. attempted to swim to shore, but soon returned to the Spray. Little by little it sank deeper. Jensen Climbed the mast and tied himself. Chapel. Chapel. Graham went up into the rigging, lashing himself about four feet be Uhrler remained Jensen. about four feet below Graham.

TOO MANY COTTON PICKERS

Reduction of Acreage in Dunklin County Reduces Work in Fields. CAbany 86

KENNETT, Mo., Sept. 17.—Reports of a scarcity of cotton pickers

ON CRAVOIS ROAD ports of a scarcity of cotton pickers in Southeast Missouri are not applicable to Dunklin County, second largest cotton-producing county in Missouri, R. Irl Jones, local chairman of the Emergency Relief Committee, and the county agent, C. R. Talbert, declared today. Some of the larger producers say that there the larger producers say that there is one picker, for every acre, and that due to the reduction in acre-that due to the reduction in acreage this season there will not be sufficient employment to keep able-bodied workers on 'the local relief rolls busy for any length of time.

Those familiar with this section believe that the cotton will be picked out earlier than in any previous year. Transients who come expecting employment in the cotton fields will be not only disappointed, but will be faced with the problem of supporting themselves, as there is no intention of placing them on the lateral voyerfaxed FERA rolls.

"The vital significance of the inquiry of group banking in Detroit must not be underestimated nor be confined to the particular institutions examined. One of the chief evils of the sysem, as shown by the Detroit inquiry, the report says, is the undue concentration of control whereby the parent organization chooses at will directors for all unit banks. The report contains numerous letters showing how the head of the Detroit Union Group, Inc., Robert O. Lord, Octated who should and who should not sit on boards of directors, and dictated also the size of dividends that the various banks should declare.

Individuality Marks Fashion Parade Attire

St. Louis Women Appear In Becoming Rather Than Topical Ensembles.

By Sylvia Stiles

THE great variety of costumes which well-dressed women have been wearing at luncheon since the opening of the autumn season would indicate that becomingness rather than type is the deciding factor in choosing a frock or a suit.

Several stunning knitted dresses have appeared, each one different in its material and its styling. The boucle continues a favorite for women who like the softer influences of fashion, while the wool knits with sports tendencies appeal to those who like more casual clothes. One-piece silk dresses, including those of satin and crepe, and attractive suits also have been impressive in the fashion parade.

Regardless of the frock or suit the majority have preferred the felt hat. In most in-stances, the brimmed type has been Swagger models with rolled brims and folded crowns have prelominated for the more informal type of costume as well as some dressier daytime clothes. The large beret also has been indorsed extensively.

The boucle frock which Mrs. Carl F. Meyer wore recently at luncheon at the Algonquin Club illustrates one trend of the season. It was rust colored and was espe-cially attractive and becoming with brown accessories. The blouse had a wide ribbed effect, the skirt a marrower, thus emphasizing the seienderness of the skirt lines. A deep yoke on the blouse introduced a basket weave design. The belt tied in front with a bow and short ends. Sleeves were long and finished with deep cuff sections. Mrs. Meyer's hat was a brown felt of the vagabond type with rather wide brim turned up at the back. Her brown suede high-cut ties were laced with brown calf. Gloves were of brown suede and her bag of brown calfskin. Other interesting accessories included a handsome watch in a crystal ball which was suspended on a platinum and onyx chain, and silver colored sports bracelets adorned with nail heads.

A stunning black crepe satin frock was worn by Mrs Horace Haberson at the Park Plaza Merry-Go-Round The blouse was cut with the lower part of the shiny side of the fabric and a yoke with cowl neckline of the dull. An ornamental clip featuring bowl of fruit helped the drape of the neckline The upper part of the sleeves was shiny and the lower part dull The skirt was made entirely of the surface glossy The costume was completed by a

ERE is a cutwork pattern that lends itself to a great variety of uses such as buffet sets, refreshment cloths, scarf, chair sets and other linens. This basket motif is balanced by a floral motif in which the basket shape is retained but only the flowers are used. The cut part of the design throws the detail of the motifs into relief making a handsome decoration. This type of embroidery is popular with every housewife for she knows that it will be as beautiful after innumerable launderings as it is when new

Pattern 785 comes to you with two basket motifs 6x9% inches, two motifs 5%x9% inches and four 2% inch motifs; complete directions for doing cutwork; illustrations of all stitches used; suggestions for uses of the motif; and material requirements.

CHAPTER FOUR.

E DROVE her home to the decent two-family brick house which she lived in Bay Ridge, and they sat in the car and talked until she shivered and he realized she was cold in her thin coat, and he told her she had better go in, the while he held her there. She had a childlike obedience that made him feel masterful and protective. He did not kiss her good night, although he wanted to. They shook hands.

He came up on the little brownstone stoop with her and waited while she produced her latchkey and opened the door. She did not ask him in; he didn't expect it. His sisters asked men in after the theater for cocktails and sandwiches. But in the flat here, others were sleeping; probably someone slept in the parlor. He understood all this. The Rileys had in their meteoric rise passed through just

"Good night," she whispered. "Thanks for a grand time."
"Me, too," he whispered. I had a grand time, too."

Helen tiptoed into the flat, carefully closing the door so that the lock would click softly, and then she crept down the hall to the room she shared with her sister, Belle. She was glad Belle was asleep. She didn't want to break the spell by talking. She undressed without a light and groped for her cotton nightgown under the pillow.

Every minute of it had been perfect. She laughed silently as she recalled bits of their conversation. And she had been afraid! He was so funny, so clever and amusing But the most thrilling part of all was that he asked her to go out with him again tomorrow night. the stifled a persistent little voice Helen stayed with him in his little within her that kept asking:

The thin wintry sun had set and she could see the sky outful wild was quite dark. The girls were side was quite dark. The girls were silent, fagged, going about the tailend of the day with listless, auto-matic gestures. This lassitude, however, would fall away as soon as they were washed and out of the hateful uniform, for they were healthy young animals and a them in her new fall and winter stretch, a cat-wash, fresh make-up, their own clothes—and they would be alive, buoyant again. She had had no word from him all day. She promised she'd go with him to the theater-or was it all a dream? He'd probably be waiting downstairs—or should she go to the library where she had met him last

C AREFULLY she brushed her best black chiffon dress and slipped it over her head. Then she put her uniform on again and combed and set her long, slightly waved ash blond hair. She wore it simply in a big loop at the back of her head and just waved slightly over her ear. Most of the girls frizzed the inside of the hair over the ears to achieve these high puffs which completely covered the ears. Some put in f.lse wads of hair; others frames of thin buckram, or which the hair was smoothly laid. These were known as "cootie garages." Her hair done, Helen powdered her nose with pink powder and bit her lips. She didn't rouge. It was now 6:30. Except for the cleaning women, there was no one

Luxurious to the nth degree of commercial splendor were the establishments of the Anastasia Beauty Salons, but dreary and unkempt were the locker quarters of the operators who dressed and "made up" for business in whitewashed, barn-like rooms. In one room, as they rouged their cheeks and donned their fresh, starched white uniforms, the girls talked... talked chiefly about the RILEY SISTERS, who managed each of the Anastasia Salons, and about WALTER RILEY, their brother and the owner of the Salons, Among the operators was one who stood out from the rest—HELEN SCHILLER. One day before the Salon opened for business. Helen was demonstrating some dance steps that she had seen on the stage the night before... and Walter Riley appeared. Her dancing was a blow to discipline. but he did not make his presence known, instead he backed away, to enter a little later, banging a door. When he appeared then, all the girls were at work, and he went on into the office of his sister, STELLA, who managed the Salon. That evening he found himself back in the shop where Helen worked. Intending to speak to her ahout her dancing to speak to her ahout her dancing to speak to the smith of the salon worked in the shop where the worked. Intending to speak to the salon houself disarmed by her smile. When she asked him if he liked to dance, he appeared uncertain, admitting finally that he had never danced. Helen was surprised at this, and he suddely asked her if she would teach him to dance. "I'd love to," she said honestly, and so they decided to go to one of the better hotels for dinner and dancing. Then, he suspected tactfully that it might be better to meet in front of the library. He felt ill at ease. However, as the evening wore on, he found himself enjoying the dancing in spite of his awkwardness.

The BALANCED Relief

No wonder Bromo-Seltzer relieves headaches before you know it! Five different medicinal ingredients all work together. One relieves pain-quickly. Thanks to another, you are relaxed and quietly soothed. If you have gas on the stomach, Bromo-Seltzer relieves that, too. And its citric salts are promptly absorbed as alkali by the blood. They counteract acid-accumulation and increase your alkaline reserve. You feel freshened.

Every time you take Bromo-Seltzer these benefits are available. How much better it is than a single-ingredient that merely kills pain. Bromo-Seltzer is the balanced relief-quicker, more pleasant and more effective. Sold in 5 handy sizes. Contains no narcotics, doesn't upset the stomach and is dependable. Get a bottle and keep it in your medicine cabinet.

er of such writers as Tolstoi, Anatole France, J. M. Earrie, Gerhardt Hauptman, Thomas Mann and numerous others only long after the experts and highly intelligent readers had discerned their greatness. Now and then a book of true greatness instantly sweeps the world, but often only the scholars lift it from oblivion to immortality.

The fact that the most antiquated and the most hopeless form of heroism and I am convinced that today the spirit of the world shows other ways to the heroic instinct of the male. The hopeless form of America deeply refreshes me and arouses my hope for humanity.

E NGLAND just about knocked our whiskers loose in competitive sports this summer. . . .

We will not include yacht racing because nobody knows whether that is a sport, any more than they know whether a golfer is an athlete or not.

Yachting and golfing are similar in many disrespects. You go somewhere. Then you come back. But you don't really start playing good until you are safe in the dining room. We don't mind losing tennis bags and Rugby games. But it renders

We don't mind losing tennis bags and Rugby games. But it renders our fat when Canada knocks us off at archery. For after all, archery is an early Pilgrim habit. The Indians doted on it for informal affairs. They arched in the daytime and at night. They loved it so that they would even fire a cabin to furnish them light for their targets. The Pilgrims were losing all the tournaments until they persuaded the Indians to trade in their 1621 bows for 1622 blunderbuses. Then they gave the Indians a drink of whisky to seal the bargain and no Indian has shot straight since. Indian has shot straight since.
